

Arianna Pascual

Editor: Golden State Dining

Weekly Contributor: San Francisco Bay Area Culinary Scene

Slice House: California's New York Pizza

Edited by: Ian Ngo & Lily Zavala

The thought of enjoying an authentic New York-style pizza in California is what dreams are made of. From the mind of a famed pizza connoisseur, Tony Gemignani, Slice House in Belmont, CA, was created to treat the people of the Bay Area with a taste of his authentic flair.

Like New York, pizza parlors are abundant and offer many options. Similarly, Slice House offers a variety of simple combinations that you can purchase as a slice or a whole pie. What makes Slice House unique is the choice of various styles—New York, Sicilian, Detroit, and even Grandma style with a thin crust in a square shape. However, unlike other pizza shops in California, Slice House offers huge slices, similar to the varieties served in New York.

Slice House offers a range of toppings, such as Pepperoni and the famed Cal Italia, which was featured in the Food Network Pizza Champions Challenge. This pizza joint is to die for, as you rarely find anything closer to an authentic New York pizza than Slice House, located at 1000 El Camino Real in Belmont, CA.