Chaos in the PacWest

The Dominican softball team fell short against the No. 2 Azusa Pacific Cougars losing their series 3-1. With these losses Dominican drops to No. 5 and Azusa remains in their spot. Azusa's Katie Korstorm earns pitcher of the week for her performance against the Penguins. Biola joins the top four for the first time, making their way to No. 4 because of their wins against Hawaii Pacific and the Penguins last weekend. As Biola increases their conference record to .500, Chaminade also continues to sneak up on the Penguins .462 conference record with their .436 after breaking University of Hilo's six game winning streak. However, Chamindade surprisingly split their series against No. 8 Academy of Art. Hilo holds the No. 3 spot with their sweep over Academy of Art, and winning their series against Chaminade 3-1.

Oklahoma softball adds a fourth loss to their record with a shocking loss to BYU, just a game after a five inning run-rule victory. Nevertheless, the Sooners bounced back with the series win after a 7-3 final. Texas holds on to No. 1 with their sweep of No. 24 Baylor. University of Kentucky joins the top 25 after their series upset win over No. 7 Kentucky. Similar story for the biggest risers in the top 25 Arizona State as they rose to the 22 spot after their upset series win over No. 20 Oregon. Interesting week overall as top teams start to get tired.
