San Francisco 49ers Week Four Recap

Week four of the NFL season is over and let's take a look at how the San Francisco 49ers did. The 49ers hosted the Arizona Cardinals for their first meeting of the season. The first quarter featured only one score, coming from a one yard touchdown run by Christian McCaffrey. The second quarter had more action beginning with an impressive 18 yard touchdown carry by Christian McCaffrey. The Arizona Cardinals notched their first points of the game from a 38 yard field goal by Matt Prater, however, the 49ers quickly responded with another touchdown scored by Christian McCaffrey. This one was through the air as Brock Purdy found Christian McCaffrey for a six yard touchdown pass. Before the first half ended, the Cardinals scored on a 18 yard touchdown pass. Joshua Dobbs found rookie Michael Wilson for the score, which made the score 21-10 at halftime. The third quarter was relatively slow only featuring one score coming from Arizona. Joshua Dobbs found rookie Michael Wilson once again for an eight yard touchdown pass. This had the score at 21-16 with the 49ers leading going into the fourth quarter. The 49ers sealed the deal in the fourth quarter as they scored two touchdowns. The first coming off a 2 yard run from Christian McCaffrey and the second coming from a 1 yard run from Brock Purdy. The final score was 35-16, improving the 49ers to 4-0. Next up, the 49ers host the Dallas Cowboys on Sunday Night Football.
