Week two is in the books and let's take a look at how the local team, The San Francisco 49ers, did. The 49ers took a short trip down south to visit the Los Angeles Rams at SoFi Stadium. Both teams were 1-0 and looking to move to 2-0 entering this divisional matchup. Christian McCaffrey got the 49ers going in the first quarter with a 14 yard touchdown run. Brock Purdy followed this up with a 1 yard quarterback sneak for a touchdown as time expired in the first half. This score tied up the game as both teams entered half with 17 points a piece. The third quarter was pretty quiet until Jake Moody connected on a 57 yard field goal to give the 49ers the lead, 20-17. The 49ers defense began to heat up in the fourth quarter and made it difficult for the Rams to score. The secondary once again had two interceptions, one by Isaiah Oliver and the other by Deommodore Lenoir. Deebo Samuel found the endzone for an 11 yard touchdown in the fourth quarter. This score sealed the deal as the 49ers moved to 2-0. The 49ers have just a few days of rest as they host The New York Giants on Thursday Night. One player to keep an eye on is Brandon Aiyuk as he was nursing a shoulder injury throughout this week's game. However, all signs point to Aiyuk being ready by Thursday night.
