

Sunset in San Rafael, CA

Written by: Joana Marie Palpallatoc
Dated: September 9, 2026

This is the sunset in San Rafael, CA.
This photo was taken on a cozy afternoon, on the school grounds at Dominican University of California.

In the photo, you can see the sky in the colors of purple, blue, pink, and a little bit of orange. There are also trees and two cars that add detail and appreciation for the sunset.

Some people might appreciate this because they find love in the art of a sunset. Some people might not appreciate it or care at all because tastes differ. That's what makes everything in this world beautiful in its own unique way.