Infinite Skies: ARMNHMR and Dion Timmer

This week San Francisco is going to host two big Dj's who are going to share the stage at the Bill Graham Civic Auditorium. These two are coming together for a show that will begin at 7:00pm and end at 1:00am. ARMNHMR is an electronic dance music (EDM) duo consisting of Joseph Abella and Joseph Chung, known for their dynamic and emotionally charged musical productions. With a name derived from their initials, ARMNHMR has carved a niche for themselves in the EDM scene by creating melodic and uplifting tracks that resonate with audiences worldwide. Their music often explores a range of genres within the electronic music spectrum, including future bass and melodic dubstep. The duo's ability to infuse their compositions with both energy and emotion has garnered them a dedicated fanbase. Beyond their studio work, ARMNHMR has made a mark through live performances at various music festivals and events, showcasing their skill in creating an immersive and electrifying experience for their audience. Dion Timmer is a Dutch electronic music producer and DJ known for his contributions to the dubstep and electronic dance music (EDM) scenes. Born on June 9, 1998, in the Netherlands, Timmer gained recognition at a young age for his skillful production and unique sound. He has collaborated with prominent artists in the EDM community, including Excision, one of the leading figures in the dubstep genre. Dion Timmer's music often features heavy basslines, intricate sound design, and a blend of different electronic music elements. His work has resonated with fans of bass music, and he has become a notable figure in the international EDM scene. To stay up to date with San Francisco's EDM nightlife, come back next week to the Dominican Beat for its last edition of the year.
