Dominican Splits Their Week

As the softball season continues, Oklahoma remains No. 1 this week while Clemson, UCLA, Arkansas and Texas A&M all ascend 3 places from their previous standings. LSU broke their winning streak of 24 against Ole Miss, taking two losses: 2-5 and 2-9. There were many upsets as pitchers are beginning to tire out. The Kansas University Jayhawks upset No. 13 Baylor with a sweep, going 3-0 in the series. Defending runner ups, Florida St, upset No. 4 Duke with a final score of 4-2. University of Auburn beat No. 20 Arkansas and No. 15 Alabama held a close 5-4 game with No. 5 Georgia to get the victory. As of this point in the season, the power 10 is consistently the same, just changing places, except the Florida Gators who clenched the 10 spot over Virginia Tech.

Your Dominican Lady Pengs Split in their four games this week. They took both wins in their conference games against Art University, but fell short against the Sonoma State SeaWolves on Tuesday. They have been playing very well this season despite the losses, playing the most games in the PacWest conference while maintaining an above .500 record in 30 games. Shelby Keltner earned Player of the Week for leading her team past Humboldt, hitting a grand slam to earn 4 runs and the victory. Against Art University's Urban Knights, she drove in three runs, in the win. Dominican has held the No. 4 spot in the conference throughout the season, which would potentially clinch a postseason position.. Their next outing is in the Tournament of Champions in Turlock. Best of luck to the Penguins as they take on 3 of the top 5 CCAA conference teams, San Francisco State, Cal State Dominguez Hills and Cal State San Bernardino. Go Pengs!
