San Francisco Portola Music Festival

Another week of amazing nightlife in San Francisco is upon us, this weekend is filled with a variety of EDM. This weekend September 30th and October 1st, San Francisco is hosting its yearly music festival, Portola Fest at Pier 80. Here are some of the names that will be talked about all weekend; day one is packed with names like Eric Prydz who is one of the biggest names in techno house music, Major Lazor who is on an international trio and Dom Dolla an Australian revolutionizing the house music genre. The last massive name of the day-one lineup is two dj's going back to back, Chris Lake B2B Armand Van Helden. Chris Lake and his progressive house and techno music has been to EDC, Coachella, Ultra Music Festival and now coming to the west coast yet again to perform in our city. Day two is another packed lineup, Carl Cox a British techno dj, is making his return to the 415, with techno giant Charlotte De Witte the biggest women figure in the techno scene. Last but not least, the pioneer of electronic dance music and one of the most important figures in the game, Skrillex. He has a wide range of music but his dubstep is what put him on the map since the early 2000's and completely changed electronic dance music for the future generations to come. You can catch him twice in one day since he'll be at an after party at the Midway from 10pm-3am. San Francisco is blessed with being able to host this amazing musical festival, there are still some tickets available at portolamusicfestival.com. To stay up to date with San Francisco's EDM nightlife, come back next week to the Dominican Beat.
