

Arianna Pascual

Editor: Golden State Dining

Weekly Contributor: San Francisco Bay Area Culinary Scene

Finding Refuge

Edited by: Ian Ngo & Lily Zavala

REFUGE

Craving an authentic East Coast deli experience in the Bay Area? Look no further than The Refuge. Since 2008, The Refuge has brought savory flavors of classic East Coast sandwiches to the Bay Area. Imagine a hand-carved navel pastrami piled high on rye or a Reuben that compares to New York's Katz Deli but with a signature Bay Area twist.

Founded by husband-and-wife team Matt Levin and Melanie Roth, along with Executive Chef Michael Greuel, The Refuge serves up mouthwatering sandwiches. Whether biting into the melt-in-your-mouth pastrami with Swiss and mustard or indulging in a Reuben, each dish is served with cheese-covered fries topped with crispy pastrami bits.

Located a few minutes south of San Francisco at 963 Laurel St., San Carlos, CA, The Refuge is a must-visit for anyone craving an authentic East Coast deli experience in the Bay Area. Whether you are from the East Coast or simply looking for the best pastrami sandwich around, The Refuge is the place to visit.