

March madness 2024

March Madness, the annual NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Tournament, has seen a series of notable events throughout March. Several high-profile teams faced unexpected challenges in the early rounds, leading to notable upsets. Traditional powerhouses such as Duke, Kentucky, and Kansas exited the tournament earlier than anticipated, while lesser-known teams like NC State and Oakland made surprising advances.

The Sweet 16 and Elite Eight rounds featured intense matchups and close finishes, with teams vying for a coveted spot in the Final Four. The tournament's progress has been marked by competitive games and moments of drama, maintaining the event's reputation for excitement and unpredictability.

Now remaining is UConn, Alabama, NC State, and Purdue. Many expect Purdue and Alabama to make it to the finals, but I personally believe that NC state has an opportunity to ride their momentum and have a huge upset over Purdue. And I don't believe that Alabama has the legs to take down a powerhouse like UConn.
